Thank You

Thank you to everyone who has called, written or reached out to me on social media the past month. As you may have read from my last newsletter, 2023 has not started out on a good note. I have had several (non-life-threatening) health issues and general “life issues” that have all seemed to hit at once. I am not one to complain and would rather focus on the positive. I believe this is a sign the Devil knows there are amazing things God is doing and he is fighting it every step of the way. In some weird way, I am actually encouraged, but also know it has been rough on my family. I also am glad to report I finally have a surgery date scheduled to repair my torn rotator cuff, tendons and bicep muscle in my right shoulder! It is set for April 20th at the VA Medical Center in Cheyenne, WY. From what I have been informed the surgery is fairly straightforward, but the recovery takes 6 months to a year. Please pray for the procedure and quick healing.

Ministry opportunities

Due to the recent fire in our basement, we have had to do extensive remodeling. In all the areas, God has used the circumstances to allow us to become very close to our neighbors! All the electrical work was done by my next door neighbor who is a licensed electrician. He already watches some services on facetime.

The floors had to be replaced and we used our neighbor across the street Andrus. We used him before to remodel a bathroom. He is Hispanic and very faithful to the local Catholic church. He had his girlfriend helping him out on this job and she started talking to me explaining that Andrus told her I was a Bishop. She is also very active in the same church as Andrus. She was asking me since we were having church in our home, where was the confessional booth and where did I keep all the holy statues and relics. We had a long talk about the differences in belief between Catholic and Baptist. Also, I had just received a box full of tracts from one of the dear ladies from my sending church that were sitting on the table where we were talking. I asked her if she would like to take a few and read them. She ended up taking four to five different ones. She has a regular job and helps Andrus out a few days a week. Please pray I see her again and can have a good follow up conversation with her.

Once the wiring is finished, hopefully this week, we will need sheetrock repair and painting. Once again, through God’s providence, Andrus’s neighbor is a painter. His name is Tony. I have had a few conversations with Tony and he seems to be a very nice guy. Definitely open to spiritual conversations but has had bad experience with religion in the past. This will just be another opportunity to get to know him and approach him with love and genuineness.

I have a local 4wd mechanic Brian, that I have been using for the past few years on my jeeps. He has had several back surgeries and other health issues. A few months ago had same surgery on his shoulder I am set to undergo. He has been in therapy for the past few months and he was in a car accident last week. He retore everything that was just operated on. He is now set to have same surgery again next week. He owns his own shop and has not worked in over 2 months. I am in the process of getting with a few of the 4wd clubs and seeing if we can do a trail ride or some type of fundraiser to help him with his expenses. He does not know anything about this and this is an opportunity to hopefully meet a physical need then use that to present the Gospel.
