

"YOU'VE NEVER BEEN SO LOVED"

Sprinkled with "SALT"

One of the toughest challenges for a pastor is often finding time to get away. Personally, carving out time for retreats has been a significant struggle in my ministry. That's why I'm thankful for New Home in Wetumpka, AL, and Pastor Sutton. Despite the long drive, every minute on the road was worth it. From the enriching fellowship with fellow believers to timely sessions and the impactful preaching by Bro. Copeland, the experience was fulfilling. Reflecting on the 9-hour journey home, I realized God and I had plenty to discuss.

Off with a "Bang"

For those who don't know, I'm a competitive shooter. While some folks play golf or coach sports, I prefer shooting! Being a pastor and a shooter often gets a lot of attention. Last year, at most of our local events, they started letting me open with a prayer before we start shooting. It's been a great opportunity for me to get to know and minister to people like Dylan (pictured in the middle). He's been a significant part of my journey over the past year.

Dylan has been shooting with me on Saturdays and attending services with me two Sundays a month since November, driving over an hour and a half each time. I'm thrilled to share that on February 10th, Dylan accepted the Lord as his savior. I'm excited to see how God will work in his life and his family's in the coming months. Please keep them in your prayers as they search for a church to connect with in their area.

Love is in the Air

This year, our church decided to host a "Parents Night Out" for Valentine's Day (actually held on the 17th after pay-day). On the Saturday following Valentine's Day, we invited couples to bring their children to the church for five hours, giving them the chance to enjoy time together as a married couple and strengthen their bond. We've tried this before without much success, but this year was different—it was a huge success! We had over a dozen families trust us to watch their kids so they could go out. What made it even better was that we had more than a dozen volunteers show up to help with games, lessons, and caring for the kids. Jenna and I were grateful for the opportunity to support this ministry by dropping off Emmitt at the church and spending a few hours together, knowing he was in good hands.
