Back To School

August has been a very busy month trying to finish out the Summer and prepare for the upcoming school year.

My son has decided to attend Adams State university in Alamosa, CO to continue his football career. When we took him down to settle into his dorm, I was able to meet with his coaches and his O-Line teammates. When they found out I was a minister, they were shocked and had many questions. I told them Dalton would be joining into our church services via zoom until he could find a local church and they were all welcome to join. So far, two of his teammates have joined for services! His roommate and one other young man. His roommate is saved but was raised 7th Day Adventist. He usually has a lot of questions about our belief as Baptists and once I explain different doctrines to him he says he has never heard it explained that way and it makes him want to study it more for himself. The other boy is not saved and has never even attended any type of church. He told my son that everything makes sense but he just doesn't know. Please pray for these two boys that the Holy Spirit will guide and convict them. They do not attend every Sunday, but have been faithful as their football schedule allows.

Concerning meeting in the building the Taylors are leasing: They are still waiting on some legal issues to be resolved with the building and its owner. Evidently, the back taxes on the property are quite large and he is working on resolving the issue. The hope is is that it will be cleared up in the next few weeks.

Girls Bible Study: The girls Bible Study has been moved to once a month for now. It has been extremely hard getting everyone together because of school and sports season.
